Let's Start!

A burrito casserole ... How does that sound?

Learning Outcome

Exchange advice and suggestions in communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- What does the expression "You are what you eat" mean to you?
- Do you agree with this expression? Why or why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about food and drink.
- I can speculate about feelings and impressions.
- I can ask for help or advice.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa and Peter talk about what they eat.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: Do you agree with this article on healthy eating, Peter?
- Peter: I guess it might be true. After all, they say "You are what you eat".
- Vanessa: In that case, I'm going to be a creamy burrito casserole after dinner tonight!
- Peter: I must be a grilled peanut butter and jelly sandwich! That's what I had for lunch. Can you tell me what are some more interesting ideas for meals?
- Vanessa: Sure, that would be fun. You also need to include more healthy choices.
- Peter: Could you show me how I can select better things to eat?
- Vanessa: You should aim to prepare foods that are low in fat and high in protein. Meat, fish, and poultry may be a good source of nutrients iron, zinc, and B vitamins.
- Peter: I may become a vegetarian.
- Vanessa: It could be that you get enough protein from a vegetarian diet as long as the variety and amounts of foods consumed are adequate. It all comes down to making sure you eat something from each of the major food groups: grains, vegetables, fruits, milk and beans.
- Peter: Where does chocolate go?
- Vanessa: Oh, Peter!

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Modal Verbs for Speculating

You can use modals to talk about degrees of certainty.

You use them to describe what is definite, probable, possible, or impossible from the speaker's point of view.

You can use must, may, might, and could to describe degrees of certainty.

Must = it's very likely

Must not / Could not / Can't = it's not possible

May / Might / Can / Could = it's possible

May not / Might not = it's possible this is not true

Modal	Meaning
He must be at work.	It's very likely he's at work.
I can't reach her. Her phone must be off.	It's likely her phone is off.
They could come over for dinner tomorrow.	Coming for dinner tomorrow is possible.
They may not come to the movie tonight.	It's possible they are not coming to the movie tonight.

Examples:

- I guess it might be true. After all, they say "You are what you eat".
- It could be that you get enough protein from a vegetarian diet.
- I must be a grilled peanut butter and jelly sandwich!

Asking for Help and Advice

There are several ways to ask for help in English. You can use polite and casual language to do this.

Let's look at one particular structure for asking for help. This is called a question within a sentence.

You can use the structure:

Can/Could + you + verb (show/tell/explain) + (to) me + question word
(how...why...where...who...etc.)

Modal Can/Could	Subject	Verb	Question Word
Can	you	tell me	what are more interesting ideas for meals?
Could	you	explain to me	how a restaurant works?
Could	you	show me	how to select meals?

Examples:

- Can you tell me what are more interesting ideas for my meals?
- Could you show me how I can select better things to eat?
